Hiring Manager
LeadLogic Ai Systems
15850 24th Ave Suite 214
Surrey, BC V3S 0G1

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my keen interest in the Junior Software Developer position at LeadLogic Ai Systems. With hands-on experience in modern web development and a strong academic background in applied modeling, big data, and financial analytics from Trent University, I am confident in my ability to contribute meaningfully to your team.

Over the past year, I have built and deployed several web applications using JavaScript, TypeScript, React, and Node.js. One project I am especially proud of is a content summarization web app that uses AI to distill long-form content into concise insights. This required integrating third-party APIs, managing user authentication with JWT, and ensuring performance through proper caching strategies. I've also containerized my applications using Docker to ensure smooth deployments and scalability.

Beyond technical skills, I prioritize writing clean, testable code, collaborating effectively with teams, and documenting processes thoroughly. I understand the importance of supporting clients post-deployment and am comfortable translating technical challenges into clear, actionable solutions.

I am particularly drawn to LeadLogic's focus on AI systems and its commitment to innovation. I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to work on-site, contribute to real-world products, and grow alongside experienced developers in a fast-paced, detail-oriented environment.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how I can contribute to your team and support your ongoing projects.

Sincerely,
Alameen Kareem
